

Claremont CyberSecurity Club Constitution

Article I. Name

The name of this organization shall be the Claremont CyberSecurity Club.

Article II. Mission

Our club is dedicated to integrating cybersecurity into the fabric of our campus culture, ensuring that students with technical interests graduate feeling well-prepared for the challenges they'll encounter beyond academia. To ensure the club's sustainability and success, we're committed to fostering a sense of ownership and vested interest among our members. The Claremont CyberSecurity Club distinguishes itself by offering a dedicated space for hacker culture to flourish in a safe and challenging environment, a focus not found in any other CMC club. With specialized technical objectives centered around cybersecurity, the club provides opportunities for members to delve deep into this field, catering to those passionate about digital security. Additionally, by offering broadly themed events, the club welcomes individuals curious about technology, contributing to its mission of fostering a more technical culture at CMC.

It's important to note that our objective is strictly aligned with ethical principles. We have no intention of engaging in illegal activities or compromising systems without proper authorization. Instead, our focus is on collaborative progress and growth. We embrace the philosophy that "If you want to go quickly, go alone. If you want to go farther, go together." This ethos underscores our commitment to collective learning and advancement in the realm of cybersecurity.

Article III. Membership

Membership is open to all Claremont McKenna College students who have an interest in cybersecurity and are committed to our mission. We welcome individuals who are dedicated to advancing their technical skills and contributing positively to the cybersecurity community.

Article IV. Nondiscrimination Clause

The Claremont CyberSecurity Club or it's members may not discriminate against someone on the basis of the person's legally-protected status (e.g. including: race, color, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, religion (including religious dress and appearance), gender, sex (which includes pregnancy, childbirth, lactation, and related medical conditions), sexual orientation, status as a victim of domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking, age, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, military status, veteran status, genetic information, or any other characteristic that may be specified in laws and regulations, as well as the perception that a person has any of those characteristics).

Article V. Leadership

The leadership of the Claremont CyberSecurity Club shall consist of the following positions:

President: Responsible for overseeing club operations, coordinating meetings, and serving as a liaison to external organizations.

Vice President of Programming: Responsible for planning and organizing club events, workshops, and educational activities.

Vice President of Finance: Responsible for managing club finances, budgeting, and financial reporting.

Vice President of Communications: Responsible for maintaining communication channels, including the club website, social media, and press releases.

Each officer shall serve a term of one academic year, starting at the beginning of the academic year.

Elections for leadership positions shall be held annually, with all club members eligible to run for office.
